Watermelon Tip

How to select a Watermelon

Look for uniform shape. Look for a firm, symmetrical watermelon free from bruises, cuts or dents. If the watermelon has any lumps or bumps, this may mean that it received irregular amounts of sunshine or water during growing, causing dryness or inconsistency.

Lift it up. The watermelon should be heavy for its size, as this indicates that it is full of water and therefore nice and ripe. Try comparing the weight of your watermelon with another of equal size - the heavier one will be the riper. This advice goes for most fruits and vegetables

Look for the field spot. The underside of the watermelon should have a creamy yellow spot, known as the field spot. This is where the melon sat on the ground and ripened in the sun, so the darker it is the better! This one is no wives' tale. If the field spot is white, or even nonexistent, this probably means that the watermelon was picked too soon, and will not be ripe.

Inspect the color. A perfect, ripe watermelon should be dark green in color and dull in appearance, rather than shiny. A shiny watermelon will usually be under ripe.

Try the knocking technique. The knocking technique can be a little hard to master, but many watermelon fans swear by it. Give the watermelon a firm rap with your knuckles and listen to the sound it makes. For a ripe melon, you want a full sound, more tenor than base. You do not want a dull or deep sound, as this means the watermelon is unripe.

Know what to look for when selecting pre-cut melon. If you're purchasing pre-cut watermelon, there are also certain things to look out for. Choose pieces with bright red flesh and dark brown or black seeds. Avoid pieces with white streaks and an abundance of white seeds. You should also steer clear if the flesh looks dried out or mealy, or is separating from the seeds.

How did you hear about CCCC? Kara – I started looking for a club to join after stopping at the Corvette Museum last summer. I could tell from your website that you were a club that was very active and had its act together. I also noticed that your Membership Director had just started working in my department at work! So, I tracked Angela down.

How long have you been in the club? We joined in August 2016.

Club Offices held/holding: Kara is currently the 2017 Newsletter Editor (I don't know how not to get involved.)

Are there any experiences with CCCC that you'd like to share? We have has so many great experiences with CCCC in such a short time. Our first adventure with the club brought us to Mackinaw City for our very first car show, so of course we met Simon and Gloria first. We took a day trip to the falls with Bob & Shalimar, Dar & Sheila, and Randy & Carol that was a lot of fun. We also met so many other wonderful members on that trip. Our most recent experience was Spartan Speedway last weekend, which was a blast! Thank you so much, Mike, for showing Kara the ropes and giving Duane the ride of his life. Thank you everyone who worked to make that an awesome event this year.

We have the National Corvette Museum for you to visit and enjoy along with the new Motorsport Park for our speed events. We will have the Competitors Award Dinner, the National Awards Dinner, the Convention Awards Breakfast, parties, entertainment and all the competitive events you have come to enjoy at Convention.

We will also have several bus tours that will include Mammoth Cave, Bourbon Country, Barbara Mandrell's home, Fontanel, Gibson Guitar, a tour of historic Glendale, with antique malls and the historic Whistle Stop restaurant, a tour of Nashville on the "Country Music Jamboree" and as an added bonus a total eclipse of the sun on the 21st of August.

Our host hotel is the Holiday Inn and Sloan Convention Center with additional rooms available at both the Marriott Courtyard and Hilton Garden Inn which are both located across the street from the Holiday. Parking for trailers is available in the lots at either end of the Holiday Inn and Sloan Convention Center.

We are working to have Convention registration available on line on the National Council of Corvette Clubs web site, <http://corvettesnccc.org/Convention2017.html>. Registration is planned to open on January 2, 2017. This year you will have to register for your hotel rooms separately and that information will be available with the Convention registration form. Also if you are planning to tour the Corvette assembly plant, they will not be available this year at Convention. The Corvette Plant no longer handles plant tours, this is all scheduled and led by the Museum staff.
