From Our President

I know it sounds crazy; but, March is my favorite month of the year. I'm sure that love started as a kid – March is my birthday month. Nothing can compete with that when you're young and can't wait to be another year older. I'm definitely over that! Then there's the lion/lamb component. Based on this whole winter, it's a pretty safe bet March is coming in like a lion. He's been roaring since mid-December. Retailers are getting killed this year. People aren't venturing out to shop. (Although, I have it on good authority that car battery sales are strong, and body shops are busy.) Do we dare hope March will go out like a lamb? Sure! The earth will warm and the spring flowers will start peeking through the snow – I promise. First on my spring-cleaning list – the garage floor. Honestly, I've never before seen so much crud. I see a steam cleaner rental in my future.

Really, by the end of March we will be uncovering our Corvettes, dusting them off, and taking the moth balls and Bounce out. Then we'll put the insurance back on, and take them for a spin around the block. Just watch out for pot holes. In his recent State of the City address, Mayor Virg Bernero referred to Michigan's crumbling roads as "Third World". Ouch!

While we await the warm up, I hope to see you at our club's March events. Check out the club calendar – it includes several fun get-togethers. Until then,

Save the wave!

News for Members

Editor's Notes:

This month's issue is a busy one. Lots of activities coming up and flyers to show. The 2014 Corvette continues to be in the news. Autoweek presented the 2014 with the annual Best of the Best award.

Cosworth announced a Performance Data Recorder for the Corvette Stingray. Via a cabin video the system overlays stats such as RPM, lap times, track map and acceleration.

Chevrolet announced the Z06 for 2014 rated at 625 HP will be available in an automatic version. The 8L90 transmission features eight forward speeds and paddle shifting.

Jake 2.0 the mascot of Corvette racing and the C7.R made their debut at the Rolex 24 hour at Daytona on January 25 – 26. The No. 4 car C7.R was in second place but fell out of the top five in the 22nd hour to have a gear box change.

Tech Tips has some generic information you may find useful as well as some C5 owner info. Also included this month is the bad news about the National Corvette Museum 'sink hole'.

Spring is not far away (March 20th) and don't forget to "Save the Wave".

Hosting an Event:

Have you ever thought you might like to host or chair an event but weren't sure what it would take? Questions like, how do I put a flyer together, who do I call, what do I have to set up and with whom.

Well we've got you covered. If you're interested or just curious about what's involved here are some contacts for you.

If it's a social event (drive and dine, breakfast, etc.) just contact our social director Janet Litrenta and she can provide the details and put you in touch with someone who can assist you. If it's a competition event (rally, drag race, etc.) just contact our competition director Mike Sprague and he can provide the details and put you in touch with someone who can assist you.

And if it's an event that was done the previous year, you can contact the host of that event for the how two's. For instance Sandy Bechtel our president hosted HP at the Zoo last year. She has a binder with all the details that she can pass along to the next host.

Need assistance with a flyer? We have some great resources. Scott Bauries, a former newsletter editor can help. He's a busy guy, so if he isn't available, Gloria our webmaster can assist. She also has contact information for Scott.

It's as simple as that. We are always looking for folks to host or chair an event, so take the plunge; it can be a fun and a rewarding experience. Plus you get points!

Vehicle Diagnostics Connector from Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

In 1980 General Motors implemented a proprietary interface and protocol for testing of the Engine Control Module (ECM) on the vehicle assembly line designated the 'assembly line diagnostic link' (ALDL) protocol. Implemented on California vehicles for the 1980 model year, and the rest of the United States in 1981, the ALDL was not intended for use outside the factory.

The only available function for the owner is "Blinky Codes". By connecting pins A and B (with ignition key ON and engine OFF), the 'Check Engine Light' (CEL) or 'Service Engine Soon' (SES) blinks out a two-digit number that corresponds to a specific error condition.

In 1994 General Motors initiated OBD 1.5, a partial implementation of OBD-II protocol used on some vehicles in 1994, 1995, & 1996. (GM did not use the term OBD 1.5 in the documentation for these vehicles — they simply have an OBD and an OBD-II section in the service manual. The 94–95 Corvettes have one post-catalyst oxygen sensor (although they have two catalytic converters), and have a subset of the OBD-II codes implemented.

History

- 1980 ALDL (Assembly Line Diagnostic Link) implementation by GM begins
- 1986 ALDL upgraded by GM with faster communication
- 1991 OBD (On Board Diagnostics) mandated by CARB (California)
- 1994 OBD 1.5 a partial implementation of OBD II by GM
- 1996 OBD II mandated for all cars sold in the US

Check Engine Light or malfunction indicator lamp (MIL)

The malfunction indicator lamp on the dash board usually bears the legend check engine, service engine soon, or a pictogram of an engine. In the United States, specific functions (emission related) are required of the MIL by EPA regulations. On vehicles equipped with OBD-II, the light has two stages: steady (indicating a minor fault such as a loose gas cap or failing oxygen sensor) and flashing (indicating a severe fault, that could potentially damage the catalytic converter if left uncorrected for an extended period). When the MIL is lit, the engine control unit stores a fault code related to the malfunction, which can be retrieved with a scan tool and used for further diagnosis.

Sun Visor removal information and photos provided by Corvette forum

Have a tattered or torn sun visor? This applies to C5's and may work on C6's. The picture below shows the driver's side sun visor in the removal position. With the visor tilted down insert a flat blade screwdriver into the slot, on the bezel ring, as shown. Rotate the sun visor counterclockwise, towards the driver's side window.

The sun visor's shaft will press on the screwdriver blade. The assembly will rotate together towards the side window. (You will simultaneously be pushing upwards on the screwdriver to keep the tip of the screwdriver in that little slot on the bezel ring.) After a 1/4 or less turn, the sun visor will simply drop down, now unattached. Disconnect the male connector by pressing the white tab to release it and pull apart
