From Our President

I know this is the June newsletter; but, I have to take a moment to talk about Memorial Day. Yesterday, I was in Marshall. Flags flanked both sides of Michigan Avenue from one side of downtown to the other. Old Glory graced the entrance of Oakridge Cemetery. Inside, Boy Scouts had placed flags at the graves of every veteran – including John’s parents, Victor & Jean Bechtel, and his uncle, Bud Bossard. The city was getting ready to commemorate its service men and women who have passed away. It’s because of Americans like them that we enjoy the freedoms we have. I am grateful to them. Thanks, also, to all veterans in the Capital City Corvette Club. I am honored to call you my friends. Let’s all fly our flags on this national day of remembrance. Red, White & Blue! I don’t think there is anything more beautiful. As those colors greet us wherever we go this summer, remember to thank our veterans for keeping this great country of ours safe and free.

If you want something to do this summer, you don’t have to look any further than our calendar. Car shows, rallies, drive n’ dine, picnic, racing – we’ve got it all. If that isn’t enough to keep you busy, take a look at our regional calendar. Have fun, be safe, and fly those flags.

’Don’t forget to save the wave!

News for Members

Editor’s Notes:

The car show season is in full swing. In the ‘Tips’ section are some ideas to make your Vette a standout.

The C7 continues to be in the news. Chevrolet has announced a new pair of design packages to choose from: Atlantic and Pacific. Per Chevrolet I quote, “So what makes each package so coastal? Nothing, particularly - there are no surfboards involved. Instead, the bi-coastal naming system reflects the separation between the two themes.”

The Atlantic design package is luxury-focused, aiming to bring a new grade of style to the Stingray and push it more toward the grand touring end of the car’s spectrum. Some of the upgrades include a Z06-style splitter, unique Chrome Torque wheels, custom luggage, and subtle interior and exterior trim.

The Pacific design package goes for track-themed looks, with satin black racing stripes, satin black Z51 wheels, carbon fiber ground effects and roof, red brake calipers, Competition Sport Seats, and carbon fiber interior trim among other tweaks.

For you convertible owners, the C7 has a built in partition in the trunk area to reduce rear road noise. I have been told it is a significant improvement over the C6 which is pretty quiet already. Another reason to get a C7 (among many).

It's Show time!

Want to have your Corvette look it's best for cars show or just in general? Of course we all do. Here's some tips to make your Corvette look it's best. Of course wash your car thoroughly before starting any detailing.

Paint

About once year, you should use a clay bar to remove tough buildup on your paint. A clay bar is just what it sounds like - a piece of modeling clay. Wash the car normally, but before you wax it, you use your detail spray as a lubricant and rub the clay bar on your paint. The clay picks up baked-on grunge and leaves your paint completely shiny.

Clay Bar

1. Apply instant detailer liberally to a small area.
2. Gently rub the clay bar across the area that is lubricated with the instant detailer. DO NOT let the area get dry. DO NOT rub the clay bar on an area that is not wet with the instant detailer.
3. Continue to rub the clay bar across the wet area until the bar moves easily across the area.
4. Use a clean, soft, lint-free towel or cloth to dry the instant detailer from your finish.
5. Look at the surface of the clay bar. It will be quite dirty from all the gunk that's been pulled from your clearcoat. Fold the clay bar so that all that gunk is on the "inside." Smash the clay bar flat between your palms.
6. Move onto another area

Wheels

Polished aluminum wheels are always an eye catcher. Factory polished wheels are usually clear coated to maintain there lusted. If your wheels are dull or have pitting from corrosion some serious work is required. Spot cleaning of corrosion areas can be done and requires sanding, polishing and a clear coat spray over the repair. If the entire wheel is dull and polishing (using the same method you'd use on your paint) doesn't bring back the shine, removal of the clear coat and reapplying would be needed. There are suppliers that will do a wheel exchange or there are clear coat stripping products if you'd like to attempt it yourself.

Aluminum Wheel Corrosion Removal

This is the technique I use – no guarantees – don't attempt if you are not familiar with paint refinishing

1. Start with 220 grit wet-dry sand paper and water. Spot sand only the corroded area to remove the defects.
2. Repeat sanding with 400 grit, then 800 grit and finish with 1500 grit. Lots of water.
3. Polish with a good quality aluminum polish. The finish should now have a chrome like luster.
4. Spray area with clear coat. This is optional. If not done the area will become dull and oxidize over time and need re-polishing.

Note: Blending the repaired area into the existing wheel surface is critical. If you mess up you can always start over or locate a wheel supplier who does exchanges.

Engine Compartment

A sparkling clean engine compartment is impressive. There's some basics, spray cleaner or degreaser, rinse water and some ArmorAll or similar product is where to start. If the aluminum items have oxidation, a fine stainless steel or brass brush does wonders. The brass brush will leave a golden sheen to the parts. Don't use a standard steel brush, it can leave tiny bristles in the aluminum which will rust. Most veteran car show attendees have there own special tricks, you might ask around.
