From Our President

In 1902, my maternal grandfather Emil Latislaw emigrated from Russia with his family. He was three years old. Czar Nicholas II was Emperor. His parents August and Juliana wanted a better life for their children. A life that included freedoms, safe haven, opportunities; and, of course, sports. They needed to get to the USA...USA...USA. (Silly; but hey, it's my story.)

Actually, I have never seen a family so athletically gifted. Five generations removed, my children and their cousins are still natural athletes. The sports DNA still spirals through their bodies. Golf, tennis, hunting, fishing, football, track and field, bowling, softball, volleyball, baseball. You name the sport, you can bet some Latislaw plays it, and plays it well. (Scrap the bowling thing with my kids, though. Not good.) My grandfather and his brother Otto played minor league baseball for The House of David. When we were in elementary school, my mother and her brother started a little league baseball team. The Indian Lake Dirty Shirts (I still don't like that name.) The neighborhood came together and built the field and concession stand. As my grandfather and uncles aged, horseshoes became their game of choice at family reunions. Aging didn't lessen their competitive nature, though. Watching any game when everyone playing is good and wants to win is great fun. They were always gentlemen on and off the playing field, though.

Fortunately for me, the spectator of the family, a lot of sports are as much fun to watch as they are to play. Now I watch my grandchildren getting involved in sports. John and I made a lot of trips to Grandville while Lauren and Gavin (now high schoolers) played sports. Now Lily (age 8) is getting interested in softball, golf, and volleyball. Maddie (age 6) still isn't sure what she will do – she doesn't want to hurt a finger. She loves to swim and seems to like golf; so, we'll see how things go. It's a good start. (If you wonder if her parents are Spartans, Maddie's initials are MSU.)

For all of us, a good sporting event is always enjoyable. Watching MSU go ahead of Michigan with no time left on the clock last Saturday is way beyond enjoyable. "Crazy" may be a better word. I'm still on a high. I'm so proud of MSU – they never gave up. And Jalen-Watts-Jackson. For someone who doesn't seek the limelight, his life has been turned upside down. He said he really didn't understand the depth of what happened until he was alone in his hospital room. He was watching ESPN and they kept replaying those nine seconds over and over again. I'm pretty sure we'll be seeing that for a long, long time. Don't mind at all, it's pretty cool. He, also, strikes me as a gentleman.

Lucky for us, as we one by one put our Corvettes in storage for the winter months, we will have a lot of sporting events to either go to, or just curl up in front of the TV to watch.

Go Green!

CAPITAL CITY CORVETTE CLUB
MEMBERSHIP MEETING MINUTES OF OCTOBER 7, 2015

PRESIDENT: Sandy Bechtel called meeting to order @ 7pm

Sandy welcomed guest Rick Washburn of Grand Ledge, and was glad to see club members Randy & Carol Putmon, and Kim & Dana Beeman who are not always able to attend our general membership meetings.

Sandy also shared a Thank you card from Suzie Politza for all that came to the funeral or sent expressions of care in Ed's honor. It was also nice to have Suzie in attendance at the meeting.

SECRETARY: Colleen asked for approval of the September 2015 membership minutes. Tom Wieczorek made motion and Craig Iansiti seconded. Motion was carried.

Colleen opened October nomination of the 2016 CCCC Board. There were no additional names added to the list of nominees from the September meeting so nominations were closed. Nominees for the 2016 CCCC Board are as follows:

President – Dave Pursel

Secretary – Colleen Bratschi

V/P Governor – Simon Reiffer

Treasurer - Mike Britz

Points – Sally Wardell

Membership – Angela Hyde

Editor – Scott Bauries

Competition – Rich Bratschi

Public Relations – Tom Wieczorek

Social Director – Chris Wieczorek

Voting will take place at the November membership meeting.

V/P GOVERNOR: Simon Reiffer presented Gloria Reiffer with the award from NCCC for winning top website for 2015.

Simon went over some insurance concerns that NCCC has brought up to all clubs. It is highly recommended that there be no social media (or) use of drones involving club events due to liability.

Simon informed the club that we must keep waivers from all events for 7yrs. Sally Wardell is going to check to see if we can take a picture or scan the waivers for storage.

Simon reported that NCCC has suspended it's raffles for 2016, it is unknown if they will reinstate them in 2017.

If you have a student in your family that Scholarship money would help, go to NCCC site to find application for money available for 2016.

And finally if you plan to purchase a new corvette and you take delivery at the museum, your NCCC membership will be paid for 1yr.

TREASURER: Mike Britz reported all accounts current, and bills paid.

POINTS : Sally Wardell reported all points up to date

MEMBERSHIP: Angela Hyde reported that we have 98 members, 2 honorary members, and 46 FCOA members. At the time of the October meeting it was reported that we have had 60 renewals.

EDITOR: Jerry Wardell had no report. If you have information for the newsletter please make sure Jerry receives it by October 24th.

COMPETITION: Mike Sprague was absent

PUBLIC RELATIONS: Dave Averill reported that he is working with the radio station per the Boards request, and will have more to report at the November meeting.

SOCIAL DIRECTOR: Chris Wieczorek reminded members of the Bingo that will be November 14th at Delta River Senior Village (dinner to follow at Fireside Grill), our Christmas party is December 5th at the RClub - this is a prepaid event so please make sure to have your money turned into Chris by the November membership meeting ($25 per person).

Chris would like to ask everyone attending to bring a picture of yourself as a child at Christmas, she will be posting these and a game will be played. Anyone with prizes that can be used for either the Bingo or the Clubs Christmas party can bring those to the November membership meeting.

CCCC has already sent our donation to the Greater Lansing Food Bank, but Bob Maynard always collects money at the Christmas party to send in for the holidays. Bob will not be at our party in December so he has asked anyone wanting to give this year to bring check to the November membership meeting so he can take care of it before he goes West.

HISTORIAN: Sue Keith attended the 21st Anniversary of the museum and reported that there is a case there that has logos from current and past clubs that have belonged to NCCC. She will keep this in our historical items.

Reading Diagnostic Trouble Codes (DTC)

All C5's have the ability to display Diagnostic Trouble Codes on the Driver Information Center (below instrument cluster). Other models require an OBDII code reader connected to the diagnostic connector.

1. Turn the key to the ON position, but don't start the engine.
2. Clear any present messages by pressing the RESET button.
3. Hold the OPTIONS button down, and press the FUEL button 4 times. This will get you into the CODES section of the Driver Information Center (DIC) below instrument cluster.

The computer will automatically display all the codes your car has generated. It will cycle through each code every 3 seconds. Any code that ends in H is a history code (something that has occurred in the past).

Once the computer has finished stepping through all of it's codes, press RESET to enter Manual Configuration mode. It should start with a module and either display "NO CODES" or "number of CODES".

To reset the codes – optional - if you wish to clear codes

1. When a code is displayed in the manual mode press and hold RESET until it displays "NO CODES".
2. Press OPTIONS to go to the next module.

3. Repeat these steps until you have reset the codes in all the computer modules.

Winter Storage Tips

- Wash, dry and wax.
- Change oil & filter.
- Check antifreeze
- Over Inflate tires to about 45 PSI and set tires on thick carpet pieces.
- Add a good gas stabilizer to fuel tank
- Install Battery Tender. No need to remove or disconnect the battery.
- Add Moth balls (in several small pantyhose type footies) under the hood. This keeps mice away from nibbling on hoses, rubber parts, sparkplug wires, etc.
- Place fabric softener sheets in the foot wells and rear area. This is thought to discourage small varmints or mice. Even if it doesn't, the car will smell nice.
- Unhitch the top latches on convertibles so that the top is relaxed for the winter.
- Remove any freezable liquids you may have in your storage compartments.
- Block tail pipe openings to keep mice or red squirrels from nesting. Steel wool is a good choice or tuperware caps if they fit tight.
- Another good option is to put a vinyl tarp on the ground or garage floor under your car, even if it's cement. Moisture rises through the floor and the tarp will help prevent condensation on your undercarriage.
- Put on a good car cover and wait for Spring.
