President's Page

Members,

The weather has warmed up and the Corvettes are out. We have had our first pointed club and regional events, so we can say 2024 is officially in gear. Typically this includes multiple members from Capital City attending the NCCC National Convention, but our attendance wasn't as great this year. If you are considering going, don't take this as a data point. There were many personal reasons why members didn't attend that had nothing to do with the experience of attending. If you have ever considered it, go! I have taken my wife one year and my son another. Both years, we were able to plan out a week that was enjoyable for all.

Capital City was well represented at the Rookie Driving School this year. I am hoping that means we will have a few members competing in a few autocross sessions this year and bringing some points in for the club. I hope many others come out to the shows, rallies, and funkhanas as well. If you have any questions on what it means to attend a regional event, what to expect, what you need to do, or anything you can think of; reach out to one of our officers, including me, that compete often. We will be happy to fill you in.

Currently, our club is in the time between planning events and waiting for the dates to come to execute on the plans. This is my personal appeal to all members to come out to our Car Shows (Blessings and Shaheen's) and our Autocross (Birch Run) to help. We always need some extra hands for registration, setup, and teardown. You don't have to do anything too complicated and every little bit helps.. You might just have some fun too!

2025 Chevrolet Corvette SUV

Starting at $60,000 est

ILLUSTRATION BY BRADBUILDS|CAR AND DRIVER
BY DREW DORIAN

Overview

An SUV wearing the Corvette name may seem out of the ordinary, but it's happening for the 2025 model year. A source inside General Motors told us that Chevrolet, after years of hesitation, will finally follow many other sports-car makers by expanding the legendary Corvette sports-car brand to encompass vehicles beyond two-seaters. While the company is in the midst of creating a new performance-focused EV subbrand that will include an SUV as well as a four-door sedan, the first Corvette SUV will be powered by a gasoline engine and will ride on the same platform that underpins the Cadillac CT4-V Blackwing and CT5-V Blackwing. This means two sizes of SUV could be offered—one compact, one midsize—to better compete BMW X3 M and X5 M. When we learn more about the Corvette SUV, we'll update this story with details.

What's New for 2025?

The Corvette SUV will be an all-new model for the Chevrolet lineup when it goes on sale. We expect it to become reality by the end of 2024.

Pricing and Which One to Buy

The price of the 2025 Chevrolet Corvette SUV is expected to start around $60,000 and go up to $80,000 depending on the trim and options.

1LT - $60,000 (est)

2LT - $70,000 (est)

3LT - $80,000 (est)

A five-seat Corvette with ground clearance, cargo space, and serious go-fast performance will likely skew toward the value-ended side of things, as accessible price tags have long been a key tenet in the Corvette's mission. We think entry-level models could even sell at a slightly lower entry price than the current mid-engine C8 Corvette's base model—though upper trims could reach into Z06 territory—but these estimated prices are stabs in the dark at this point. The Corvette SUV is still a few years off from production and we likely won't know more about it until closer to its on-sale date.

This content is imported from Third party. You may be able to find the same content in another format, or you may be able to find more information, at their web site.

Engine, Transmission, and Performance

Theoretically, a compact-sized Corvette SUV could come with a turbocharged four-cylinder or a twin-turbo V-6, while a mid-sized one would no doubt come with GM's 6.2-liter V-8 engine. A supercharged version of that engine is currently in the larger Escalade V, and if Chevy were to drop that in and call it a Corvette Z06 SUV, it would set its sights on more exotic competition such as the Ferrari Purosangue and the Lamborghini Urus.
